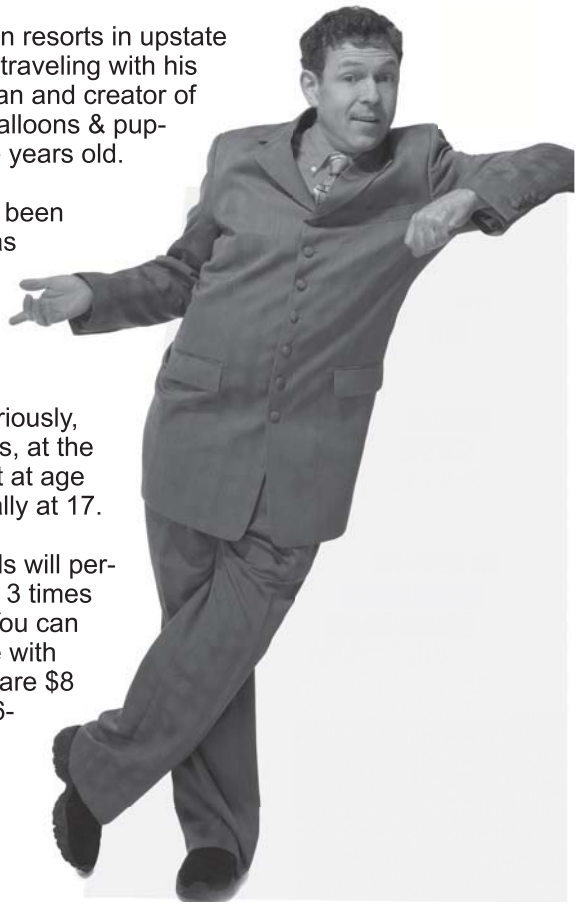
Comedy Hypnotist, Alan Sands

Comedy Hypnotist, Alan Sands returns to MontanaFair, August 8th-15th.

While his current favorite entertainment medium is hypnosis, the underlying theme is always comedy. He makes people laugh. His sense of humor is often described as a combination of “funny — ha ha” and “funny — strange.”

When performing hypnosis, The SandMan brings the subject’s subconscious to the movies, through temperature changes and to Mars, animal encounters, arguments in international tongues and creating what Alan likes to call “a three-ring circus of dreams”, where every volunteer on stage imagines different fantasies at the same time. One of his great talents is that he can entertain all ages from children to adults and he makes them laugh simultaneously, keep them laughing and to leave them wanting more.

Raised in the Catskill Mountain resorts in upstate New York, Alan Sands began traveling with his father, George Sands, magician and creator of seventeen books on magic, balloons & puppetry, when he was only three years old.



“People ask me how long I’ve been performing. ‘Since before I was born’,” says Sands. “My father was a professional tertainer. He never had a either”.

Sands started entertaining seriously, ing magic with coins and cards, at the six; won his first talent contest at age began performing professionally at 17.

Comedy Hypnotist, Alan Sands will per- Coors Stage, August 8th-15th 3 times PM, 7:00 PM, and 9:15 PM. You can Hypnotist, Alan Sands for free with admission. Admission prices are $8 adults 65+ and for kids ages 6- 5 and younger.
